

THE ALABAMA TRUST FUND

The State's Most Valuable Financial Asset

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Alabama Trust Fund (ATF) experienced an extraordinary year for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2017. Here are the highlights:

- The investment portfolio generated a rate of return of 11.55%.
- The investment portfolio grew to $3.15 billion, a $602 million, or 24%, increase over the previous year.
- The ATF paid out $158.9 million in support of its recipients (see below)
- During the year the ATF received $400 million in repayments from the General Fund Rainy Day account and the People's Trust Act.

The main components of the ATF accounting structure are the incoming oil and gas capital payments and investment earnings, outgoing distributions and the investment portfolio.

For fiscal year 2017, the ATF generated $243 million in revenues from investment income, realized gains, and oil and gas capital payments. Expenditures were largely comprised of the $158.9 million constitutionally required distributions, and $8.4 million in professional fees.

At September 30, 2017, trust assets were approximately $3.15 billion in eligible investments of trust fund monies and $233 million in land acquired under the Alabama Forever Wild Land Trust for a total of almost $3.4 billion.

Annual transfers from the ATF to the recipients are 5% of the 3-year rolling average of the value of the invested assets plus 33% of the annual royalties. This amount declined during the period FY13-FY17 due to the significant Amendment 856 withdrawals. The asset growth and repayments in FY17 will begin the significant reversal of that trend.

OIL AND GAS PAYMENTS

Oil and gas capital payments are defined as “any royalty or other payment, with the exception of any taxes, heretofore or hereafter levied that is based upon or determined with respect to the production of oil, gas, or other hydrocarbon minerals and that is paid to the state” The amount of the payments is dependent on two components: natural gas volumes and the price of natural gas per thousand cubic feet (Mcf). For the Alabama leases there is an assumed 8.8% annual decline rate projected by the Alabama Oil and Gas Board. Recent results reflect and confirm this declining revenue trend. For example, in FY2013, the ATF received $83 million in royalties. In 2017, the ATF received $47.7 million in royalties.

INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO

In reliance on prudent standards for preservation of capital and maintenance of liquidity, the Board's investment portfolio objective is to earn the highest possible total rate of return consistent with defined tolerances for risk and sufficient to fund the required distributions. The ATF has a long-term investment horizon with asset allocation and diversification being the primary determinants of positive investment performance.

The ATF generated extraordinary growth in performance and resources and increased support for its beneficiaries. Thank you to all who participated in this effort. It confirms that the ATF is the State's most valuable financial asset.

At the end of the 2017 fiscal year Rich Bielen, President and CEO of Protective Life Corporation, concluded his service on the board. Rich was an active and valuable member for 12 years. His expertise, guidance and wisdom paid significant dividends for the ATF. Thank you, Rich.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

HISTORY AND STRUCTURE OF THE ATF

Beginning in the late 1950s several U.S. States established sovereign wealth funds, also known as permanent trust funds, to capitalize on their natural resources to enhance the revenues of the state. They were designed to be intergenerational, thus providing revenues and wealth across many generations. The State of Alabama created such a fund with revenues from offshore gas production flowing into what is known today as the Alabama Trust Fund for the continuing benefit of the State and its citizens. The ATF plays an important role in the financial wellbeing of Alabama. It must be managed prudently and protected properly to fulfill that goal.

The discovery of natural gas in Mobile Bay in 1978 led to active drilling and development of the large gas reserves below Alabama's coastal waters. The State received bids in 1981 for the rights to develop offshore tracts. In 1982, Alabama voters approved the creation of the Alabama Heritage Trust Fund (AHTF) that would receive the $347 million in proceeds from the first sale of drilling rights in 1984.

In 1985, voters approved Amendment 450 to the Constitution of the State of Alabama creating the Alabama Trust Fund as an irrevocable, permanent trust fund for the continuing benefit of the State of Alabama and its citizens. Oil and gas capital payments from offshore gas production were directed into the ATF. The initial principal of the ATF was $333 million. In December 2001, the AHTF transferred $467 million in trust capital to the ATF as directed by Amendment 450.

The Board of Trustees of the ATF is responsible for the possession, control and management of the trust fund. The board is comprised of nine trustees consisting of the Governor, the State Treasurer, the Director of Finance, three trustees appointed by the Governor, two trustees appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and one trustee appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Governor, State Treasurer and Director of Finance each serve as a trustee ex officio and as an officer.
